SUCCESS STORY

Regardless of your preferred flavor for working with a trusted partner, QS² Point is your partner in leveraging and delivering the power of technology

We have been working with Daktronics, a digital display manufacturer, to provide team augmenting and project development for over ten years.

In the last seven closed projects (3½ years), we've had an accumulated project deviation of one week.

At Daktronics, we have partnered with QS2 Point to meet our demanding development needs – both for internal systems and for products we offer to our customers. The QS2 Point team has been professional, creative, reliable, and accommodating to our evolving needs. They have been able to work with us to properly scope efforts and deliver a quality product on time and within budget. We often have complex solutions, and QS2 Point has been able to deliver [them] consistently. With QS2 Point, we have found a partner with strong technical skills, available at a competitive rate. QS2 Point has been [a] great partner, and we look forward to a lasting relationship.
